

David Lavoie – Senior Integrated Solutions Consultant, Damar Security Systems

As the Senior Integrated Solutions Consultant with Damar Security Systems, Dave Lavoie takes great pride in assessing clients' requirements and developing solutions to fulfill their requirements. As the head of Damar's Integrated Solutions Group, Dave is constantly on the look-out for opportunities to incorporate leading edge technology while still maintaining an "ease of use" mentality when developing solutions.

Dave's career with Damar began as a field technician servicing and installing security, video and access control systems before advancing to a sales representative position. While in the sales position, Dave's strength as an innovative thinker quickly became apparent and he soon moved into his current position as Senior Integrated Solutions Consultant.

Dave works closely with many of Damar's larger clients and also readily provides his expertise to the representatives that make up the Damar Sales Team.
